Old Lady Hurt
Aunt Ann Lacy was seriously hurt when she was struck by a candy truck on the road in front of her home at about 5 o'clock on Tuesday evening. Two broken ribs will require some time and patience to heal. The driver of the truck was very considerate and sorry for the accident and agreed to pay all doctor bills, which is as it should be.

ALDERSGATE COMMEMORATION
The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, under the leadership of the Bishops, especially directed by Bishop A. Frank Smith, the Aldersgate Commemoration is taking the form of the most powerful spiritual forward movement ever known in the church. There is no financial objective—no money to be raised.

This is the bi-centennial commemoration of John Wesley's spiritual awakening, in a meeting at Aldersgate street, London, England.

The following from West Liberty attended the rally in Lexington Tuesday: Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Garriott, Mrs. D. R. Keeton, Misses Helen Stacy, Ella Ruth Childers, and Margaret M. Brong.

Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, Dr. Elmer T. Clark, Dr. Harold Paul Sloan, Dr. W. G. Cram and Bishop A. Frank Smith were the speakers.

CORRESPONDENTS NOTICE

The Courier has, on the whole, a fine staff of correspondents. They try to keep in touch with the office and are always on the alert for interesting news items and make an effort to get the news to us on time.

Several persons who have undertaken to send us the news from their section are not taking the matter as seriously as we wish them to do. We want you to keep in touch with the office. Notice whether your news is printed exactly as you wrote it. Notice if any items are changed or perhaps omitted.

If any of your news items are about persons away from your place be sure to give their post-office address.

Write us regularly. If you do not know our rules come and find out so that we may get on a proper working basis.

Anybody, anywhere, may send us news anytime, and if the letter bears your name and address the news will be considered on its merits and printed if it meets our approval.

Regular correspondents are taken on only after a conference at our office. It will be useless to write us about being our correspondent. Come to the office. We have several positions open and several more which may soon be open.

CLUB CONFERENCE

It was our pleasure to attend the Conference of 4-H Club Leaders and officers of the entire county, held yesterday at the home of County Agent, Yandall Wrather.

In spite of the muddy roads, ten clubs were represented.

Miss Dorothy Threlkeld, a member of the 4-H staff of Kentucky, was present and outlined briefly the "Program on Trees."—One each month for the entire year. This program will be a source of education to the leaders and parents, as well as the boys and girls.

J. M. Feltner of London, who has the club work in this end of Kentucky and holds a number of camps every summer, gave a very interesting talk on the importance of club work and the opportunities it offers. There are 1,300,000 members in the United States. He told those present that each one would be required in this Tree Program to make a Herbarium, which they will enjoy.

We appreciated seeing the picture shown by Mr. Wrather on "Plan Your Life." It was very instructive.

W. M. Gardner, J. B. Nickell, and W. G. Ratliff of Mr. Wrather's Council Committee were asked in to enjoy the noon lunch Mrs. Wrather had ready for all who attended.

Mr. Wrather is enthusiastic and an untiring worker. He is getting some fine results.

BIBLE INSTITUTE CLOSED

The Bible Institute at the Baptist church closed Sunday night, when the pastor gave a brief summary of the week's preaching and Rev. Lewis W. Martin of Jeff brought the closing message, speaking on "Four Pillars of Missionary Work."

Good attendance, good interest, and good preaching featured the institute from beginning to end. The attendance reached its highest point on Wednesday night, but the crowds on Saturday night, Sunday morning, and Sunday night were not far below the Wednesday night peak.

The manner of preaching varied with each session of the institute as different ministers brought the sermons, but in each case the purpose and effect of the preaching was to exalt Christ and bring His people into closer harmony with His Word.

ROSCO BRONG, Pastor

Mrs. Lawrence Ketterhagen spent most of last week in Salsersville with her father, who was quite sick. He is some better this week.

Ambrose Williams is reported to be no better this week.

Knight of the Bath

The title Knight of the Bath is derived from the ceremony of bathing, which was practiced as a symbol of purity when a knight was inaugurated. The last time this ceremony was used in creation of knights was at the coronation of Charles II in 1661.

MY LITTLE GIRL

"Today my little girl who is 7 years old, started to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel whose name is 'Coot,' sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as she waved 'good-bye' and started off to the hall of learning.

"Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her—the girl with yellow curls—and the boy across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher, who has eyes in the back of her head—and about the tree in the school yard—and about the big girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital, unimportant things; and then we studied spelling, reading, arithmetic—and then to bed.

"She's back there now—back in the nursery sound asleep, with 'Princess Elizabeth' (that's a doll) cuddled in her right arm. You guys wouldn't hurt her, would you? You see I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut, or her head gets bumped, I can fix it—but when she starts to school, when she walks across the street, then she's in your hands.

"She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and darts about like a chipmunk. She likes to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoons. But I can't be with her all the time—I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So please help me look out for her. Please drive slowly past the schools and intersections—and please remember that children run from behind parked cars.

"Please don't run over my little girl."—Florida Times Union. Submitted for publication in the Courier by Mr. and Mrs. Ova Amyx.

LADIES' AID MEETING

Cannel City, Ky.—The Ladies Aid of Cannel City Union Church met with Mrs. Mike Benton, March 3. Members present were: Mrs. K. K. Spencer, Mrs. Asa Carter, Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. Press Sebastian, Mrs. Dorsey-Peyton, Mrs. Lee Peyton, Mrs. Corbett Terrell, Mrs. Inez Donovan, Mrs. J. W. Benton, Mrs. Mike Benton, Mrs. Earl Morris, Mrs. Donnie Patrick, Miss Sally Minor, Misses Alene Zornes, Wilma Faulkner, Emily Spencer, and Gertrude Stacy. Visitors were Mrs. Kelly Arnett, Mrs. Lonnie Patrick, Miss Nancy Benton, Coleen Patrick and Ruth Terrell.

Hymns sung were, "Just When I Need Him Most" and "Love Lifted Me." In the absence of the president, Mrs. W. T. Stamper took charge of the meeting and read as the Scripture, I Cor. chapter 13. All repeated the Lord's Prayer. After reading the minutes and roll call, work was begun on the quilt for Mrs. Wells, and to the surprise of all present, Mrs. Carter brought the quilt top all set up. She and Mrs. Lee Peyton had finished it since our last meeting. Then another pleasant surprise was Mrs. Donovan's showing the little "Nine Patch" all very neatly set up in a pretty shade of pink.

There are certainly no drones in this society. All prove by their diligence to be "Busy Bees." As all of the work was done there was nothing for the members to do but enjoy themselves which they did to the fullest extent.

A most enjoyable feature of this meeting was a shower given by the Aid to Mrs. Donnie Patrick one of the recent brides of the new year. She received many pretty and useful gifts which she obligingly opened and showed the members.

During the social hour the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Donnie Patrick and Miss Zornes served nice refreshments of fruit jello, tea cakes and coffee.

All agreed that this was one of the most enjoyable meetings of the new year. We adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. W. Benton March 17. SALLIE C. MINOR, Secretary.

Enjoying Florida

Miss Nell Caskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Caskey, is enjoying the orange blossom time in various parts of the good old orange state. One day last week, in company with Mrs. J. R. Kendall of Bowling Green, she was the dinner guest of Judge and Mrs. L. Y. Redwine and Mrs. B. E. Carter at Fort Myers, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Redwine are natives of Morgan County and are royal hosts.

HOOVER ADVISES HITLER

Ex-president Herbert Hoover, is touring the continent of Europe. Last week he sought and was granted an interview with the Arch dictator of that continent and the world, Adolf Hitler. Such news of the interview as Hitler wished the world to have, described the interview as having been pleasant and an exchange of thoughts on the comparative merits of democracies and dictatorship in governments.

The next day after the Hoover visit dictator Hitler sent armed German troops to annex a self governing Austria to the dictator ruled Germany.

We can almost imagine what Hitler thought of the idea of taking seriously any suggestions from Herbert Hoover on how to govern a country!

OLD FIDELITY

A few days ago I read in a county paper a letter from a former Kentuckian who had returned for a visit after an absence of forty or more years. Rather oddly, the very place he had visited here was my own fidelity, now long known by another name. He reviewed the former grandeur of the little village, mentioned many people whom I knew or had heard of, and set my mind awork with memories that should have died a natural death with the nineteenth century. Since Fidelity was a typical village a generation or two ago, a few words about it might not interfere with your own memories of places equally large and equally important.

It was a self-sufficient place, with everything from a flour and a grist mill to a wagon factory. The nearest railroad until I was a good sized boy was twenty-five miles away. People had never known the so-called modern conveniences. They raised what they needed or did without, a fine old pioneer way of doing things. Every spring branch was a potential source of power for a saw-mill or grist mill; it was not far away to a carding mill, where the wool from our own sheep was made into rolls for spinning; even a tobacco factory grew up on a large plantation to give employment to Marse Peter's slaves and their descendants in the winter months when farm work was slack. The county seat was a necessary evil, but not very necessary; paying taxes, serving on a jury, and buying a few things, spring and fall, that the village stores did not keep about constituted its importance as a center of population.

Then the railroad came. Our little Fidelity, like most of the places missed by the railroad, began to dwindle. "Fetched on wagons took the place of those laboriously made in the shop; flour could be bought in barrels from elsewhere; even the tobacco factory moved to the county seat, to be nearer the railroad. But on its gullied hills the little village remained, growing a bit shabbier year by year, but still interested in the big world that had run away and left it. Now it is connected with the world by a modern state highway, it has a good four-year high school, some of its downhill tendency has been stopped, but it is really a ghost of what it was forty years ago, when memories were still vivid of the Civil War and the passing of soldiers through its one street, if the road could be worthy of such a name. Something it had, however, that time cannot kill, a vigor that crops up in all of its children, wherever they go. None ask other than a reasonable chance for themselves. Fidelity folks, no matter where they now live, will admit that the soil is of the very poorest, that there is nothing fine about the community in agriculture or wealth or other showy things. But every one of them will tell, even at the expense of being borsome, how some mighty fine people have originated among the hills and hollows around the village. Remote relatives who have visited in the village have caught some of the same loyalty; some rather good poems have been written about the hills there. And not a person from old Fidelity ever is ashamed of his origin; he never says he is from the county seat if his home was really in the hills ten miles. Here I am, more than thirty years away, boasting of the seedy little place, glad to call it and its surroundings mine. And every other native son of Fidelity is just as foolish as I am.—Kentucky Folklore Series.

SEWING CIRCLE MEETING

The Church of God Sewing Circle of Cannel City met with Mrs. Roy Benton March 11.

Members present were: Mrs. Cleve Stacy, Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. J. W. Benton, Mrs. Lonnie Patrick, Mrs. M. G. Dunigan, Mrs. Marcum Bach, Mrs. Clyde Wells, Mrs. Chalmers Benton, Mrs. W. J. Terrell, Mrs. Roy Benton, Mrs. J. D. Benton, Mrs. M. H. Ferguson, Misses Rebecca Spencer, Gladys Benton, Gertrude Stacy and three visitors, Mrs. D. N. Haney, Mrs. Buford Lykins, Mrs. Calla Lewis.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. T. Stamper and the hymns were "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and "Blessed Assurance."

The hostess read the 87th Psalm for the Scripture lesson and Mrs. J. D. Benton led in prayer. Two new members were added to our circle, Miss Gladys Benton and Miss Gertrude Stacy.

The work on the quilt was then begun. 24 squares were made. During the social hour the hostess assisted by her daughter, Geneva, served delicious refreshments of doughnuts, coffee and fruit salad.

It was announced by the president that the Circle would meet March 17th with the Ladies Aid at the home of Mrs. J. W. Benton. The Circle will hold their regular meeting March 25th with Miss Rebecca Spencer.

After a very pleasant afternoon we adjourned about 4 o'clock.

FORMER CITIZEN HERE IN TEXAS

Fort Worth Texas, March 5, 1938. Mr. C. P. Henry, West Liberty, Ky.

Dear Sir and Brother: In looking over the Masonic Home Journal, of which paper my brother is editor, I saw your name as W. M. of the Lodge there, and decided to write to you.

Of course you are a much younger man than am I (I am past 72), and in all likelihood you never saw me. However, for some years during my boyhood days we lived in West Liberty, and I learned the printer's trade in the office of the Licking Valley Scorch, owned and edited by John T. and Claude S. Hazen.

Really, my friend, I would enjoy a letter from you. Most of those whom I knew are gone, and I never hear from that old town.

If you should mention my name to any who remember me, give them my love. Retain a portion for yourself, as I do love the old town and all its citizens.

May God bless and keep and guide you and yours.

Yours in Him, most truly,

S. X. SWIMME

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Miss Margaret R. Nickell of Mize gave a birthday party at her home Saturday, March 12.

Several games and radio music were the chief entertainments.

After the group sang "Happy Birthday To You" refreshments of cake and punch were served to the following: Asa Morton Nickell, Ed Oldfield, Dwayne Bellamy, Henry L. Stacy, Roy Fugate, Billy Reed, William Childers, Herbert Wells, Lurline Reed, Helen Cox, Martha Fannin, Helen O. Price, Lucille Nickell, Virginia Nickell, Mildred Owsley, Aileen Davis, Ella Turner, Helen Stacy and Margaret R. Nickell. All reported a very enjoyable evening and wished for Margaret, more happy birthdays.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blevins of Greear gave a birthday party March 11, in honor of their little daughter, Erma Sue, celebrating her second birthday. Those present were: Harold and Gertrude Gevedon, Georgia, Alma, Ruth, Junior, and Roger Ross and Joseph Williams, H. C. Gevedon, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Blevins, Mrs. J. A. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Russell.

The children played games and then cake, peaches and candy were served for refreshments. She received several gifts and a good time was reported by all. They left wishing the dear little girl many more happy birthdays.

Visit In Middletown

Rev. Harlen Murphy and wife accompanied by Bill McKenzie Sr. were in Middletown, Ohio, last week. The men folks returned the latter part of the week but Mrs. Murphy remained for a week's visit with relatives and expects to return home this week end.

MRS. JACKSON ELAM

Mrs. Jackson Elam seated in a car was so seriously hurt when a car said to have been operated by Hager Reed of Magoffin County crashed into the car parked along side of Kentucky Highway No. 40, near the residence of Boyd Conley that she died shortly after having reached the Paintsville Hospital, where she had been taken in hopes of saving her life.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Elam are natives of Morgan and Magoffin Counties but have for some years lived at Lebanon, Ohio, where both of them were regularly employed. They had come here to visit relatives and friends. They will never come again. The man whose car crashed into the parked car was arrested, charged with manslaughter and released on bail.

Riva Conley Elam was 27 years old and is survived by her husband and one son, Charles, aged 9, also a brother, Paul Conley and two half sisters, Golda Curtis of Jackson, Ohio, and Pansy Nickell of West Liberty, and an aged grandmother, Louisa Hall.

Funeral services were conducted at the Lacy Creek church, March 8, with Rev. J. K. Bolin of Lebanon, Ohio, and R. H. Nickell of Payton, and E. T. Nickell of Florriss in charge of the ceremony.

The body was laid to rest in the Dawson Cemetery.

BOB JONES' COMMENTS

This is being written on the Sunset Limited train which runs over the Southern Pacific Railroad from New Orleans to San Francisco. I have been in the pullman for forty-eight hours. It has been a most restful journey. I have traveled by airplane, by automobile and I have crossed the ocean a number of times in modern ships, but there is no more comfortable or luxurious travel than an air-conditioned modern pullman sleeper. All of our luxuries and comforts cannot make men happy. Things never have and never will produce happiness. One of the most delightfully happy days of my life was a trip in a covered wagon drawn by two mules when I was a ten year old country boy. It was raining all day. I was dry and comfortable. I dreamed my boyhood dreams. I dreamed in a rush. We took it easy. My father and two or three friends were in the wagon. I looked in the grown-ups' faces. Once in a while I asked a question. We had a good, old, homelike, peaceful, much. My mother was a good cook. Her food was a lot better than the food of the world. We have made life a little easier for our children and in so doing have probably done them great harm. I am positive that young people are not as happy as they were when I was a boy in the country. In magnifying comforts in our modern world we have been losing much of the true values.

I have just had an interesting visit with an Egyptian who is in America to take an agricultural course in a western university. He speaks English fluently. He was gracious and courteous. I asked him if he were a Christian. He told me he was a Mohammedan. I gave him one of my little booklets, "Chapel Sayings," which he seemed delighted to receive and promised to read. There is enough Gospel in the booklet to save a sinner. I saw to that when the booklet was published. "Italy will not take Egypt. Egypt is for England. In about two years from now England will be ready for business and will tell Mussolini what to do and he will do it." the cultured Egyptian said. "Why didn't England stop Mussolini when he ravished Ethiopia?" I inquired. "England does not get in a hurry. She waits until she is ready. She is getting ready very fast," he replied. It sounds very good. Personally, I hope he is right. I think Mussolini is the most dangerous character in the world. But no man knows what is going to happen. The whole world is in a state of uncertainty. Sometime, somewhere things will come out all right. This world belongs to God. He made it. When it wandered away He sent His Son to die on the cross and buy it back with His blood. Someday and probably soon, He will come back and take possession of His property.

FARMERS' COLUMN

SWEETPOTATO BULLETIN

John S. Gardner, who for years has been writing an annual series of garden articles for Kentucky newspapers, has written a circular for the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture on sweetpotato growing. Kentucky is a big sweetpotato state, that crop ranking fifth in value of crops produced in the state.

The most widely grown variety in Kentucky is the Nancy Hall, according to Mr. Gardner. Its golden flesh and bright skin color have made it a favorite in the markets in which Kentucky sweetpotatoes move. The circular, copies of which may be had from county agents or by writing to the College of Agriculture, deals with plant or "slip" production, seed treatment, plant beds, field preparation, cultivation, curing, storage, and disease and insect pest control.

HAVE FULL EGG BASKET

Prepare now for a full egg basket next fall by getting good chicks early, feeding them properly and keeping down disease, suggests the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Much depends upon the quality of chicks secured. This may have no relation to the price paid for them. Cheap chicks are often said to be expensive chicks.

Good chicks are from flocks that have been tested for pullorum disease, flocks that have been bred for egg production and egg size, and flocks that have low adult mortality.

Failures in brooding can be traced to one of the following:

Over-crowding. This often results in stunted growth, cannibalism and spread of disease.

Insufficient feeder space. Allow one inch per chick and then increase this amount as the chicks grow older.

Tracking disease into the brooder house by going directly from the range and houses used by the older birds to the brooder house.

Allowing chicks to get on ground contaminated with disease germs and parasite eggs. A sun porch or clean range helps solve this problem.

Improper feeding.

NEW FARM PROGRAM

Discussing the new farm act, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace says it supplies the basis for the following six-point program designed to provide farmers with adequate facilities and with the stability of income needed to enable them to go on producing abundantly and to maintain ample reserves of farm commodities for use of the nation.

One—Continuance of the AAA soil conservation program and establishment of its objectives as a part of permanent farm policy represents a national investment in soil fertility and insurance for the nation of future abundance of food and fiber.

Two—National acreage allotments are established at levels designed to give production ample for domestic consumption, exports, and reserve supplies, and payments are made to encourage farmers to produce up to these national allotments.

Three—Loan provisions in the law encourage systematic storage of surpluses of big crop years for use to enable farmers to hold surpluses until needed.

Four—Marketing quotas backed by penalties on sales in excess of the quotas can be used, subject to approval of a two thirds vote of the producers voting, to secure general participation of farmers in a program designed to hold surplus supplies off the market until they are needed.

Five—Release of corn supplies from storage under marketing quotas is provided to meet any shortage that develops on the farm, in the county, or in the case of national need.

Six—Crop insurance for wheat, starting with the 1939 crop, will give the wheat producers and the bread supplies of the nation better protection against drought. Gradual accumulations of wheat paid in by farmers as insurance premiums will contribute a major part of the ever-normal granary supplies for wheat.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

START with your windows first when you start with your spring refurbishing! Look at them with a severe eye! Are the curtains crisp and dainty? Are the window shades underneath sparkling and clean? Are they the right new color to tone in with your summer draperies and slipcovers?

And speaking of color, we've found out that the newest tone for spring and summer is green—a green of the springleaf range. Soft, muted, in tone to rest the eyes and calm the nerves—and of course to keep your rooms cool and livable. It is particularly appropriate for bedrooms to shade your eyes and that of your children from the glare of the morning sun.

Another thing we've discovered, many women are putting up double shades—that is, one color for the inside of the room and a second color, usually cream or white, to face the street. In this manner they achieve smart and complete uniformity. It is a good idea, don't you think?

WASHINGTON NOTES

WPA INCREASES

WPA rolls will be increased by 500,000 additional relief workers this month. This increase is made possible by the $250,000,000 Emergency Relief appropriation, without which the rolls would have been curtailed by 500,000 by July 1st instead of being increased.

SUPER HIGHWAYS

The proposed super-highway program has been practically removed from the realm of active legislation by the Senate, which referred the measure to the Senate committee on Postoffices and Post roads. Previously, it had been Currency committee. The new committee is expected to report out a recommendation for the project.

SUPER-POWER

The much discussed question of "super-power" for radio stations will come up at a hearing before the Federal Communications Commission on May 16th. Clear channel stations, with the exception of WLW, operating on an experimental basis, are limited to fifty kilowatts. The new proposal would make this the minimum instead of the maximum authorized power. WLW, at Cincinnati, uses 500,000 kilowatts and fifteen other stations have asked for the right to use the same amount of power.

DIRIGIBLE

Visitors to the nation's capital in the past few years have not failed to observe the flights of a dirigible which daily carries passengers over the city. The practical demonstrations of the utility of dirigibles has had its effect. The House Naval Affairs committee, in its report, allotted $3,000,000 for the construction of a dirigible. This was in the face of an adverse declaration by the President and the frank skepticism of naval officers in regard to the possibilities of such an airship.

TAX COMPLAINTS

In opening debate on the 319 page tax book in the house, Chairman Doughton, of the Ways and Means Committee referred to the fact that during hearing on the effect of the undistributed profits tax, "not a single specific case of undue hardship was established. On the contrary," he asserted, "practically every witness showed an utter lack of knowledge of the effect of the proposals in the bill and even of the existing law as it applied to his own particular business, except that they had to pay a little more in taxes."

GOOD WILL PROGRAMS

Special non-commercial radio programs, designed to create good will, are being broadcast daily to South and Central American countries. From seven-thirty to eleven o'clock in the evening of each day, a broadcast in Portuguese, is aimed at Brazil and during the same hours, a similar type program, in Spanish reaches other South and Central American peoples.

BUY AIRCRAFT

In February, China and Japan increased heavily their purchases of arms, ammunition and implements of war from the United States. China spent $1,918,613, practically all for military and commercial aircraft. Japan spent $1,184,950, all but $549 of which was for commercial aircraft.

NOT FASCIST

Announcement that Dr. Oswaldo Aranha has accepted the Foreign Ministry portfolio in the Vargas government is generally taken to indicate that the new regime in Brazil is not Fascist. Dr. Aranha is an ardent defender of democratic principles and recognized as a great friend of the United States. Immediately after the coup in Brazil, he left Washington and it was rumored that he was quitting his post rather than swallow the Fascist regime. However, his acceptance of the new position is considered proof that President Vargas has not adopted the ideology of European Fascist states.

ANSWER

Apparently answering charges that the President was using his office for personal profit in writing, Secretary Early recently announced that the profits resulting from newspaper and magazine articles would be devoted to "a useful public purpose under government direction."

4 FIX PRICES

Senator Borah recently asserted that four corporations fixed the prices of food and that two firms controlled the prices of farm implements. He stated that the Federal Trade Commission's investigation, completed last fall, showed that some "of these food firms made as much as 1,000 per cent on their investments."

DINGUS

Second Grade

Mrs. Reva Howard was a visitor in our room last Friday.

Third Grade

The following pupils were on the honor roll in the third grade:

Anita Gullett, Frances Stacy, Gladys Wells, Billy Coffee, Ray Coburn, and Betty Jean Johnson.

Fourth Grade

Since spring has come and the birds have begun to chirp, the fourth grade has started a study of them. When warm days are here we plan to take some field trips to study the calls and homes of various birds.

Mrs. Ezra Bach was a pleasant visitor in our room Friday afternoon. Mr. Everett Nickell visited our room also during this month. We wish more parents would visit our classroom.

Several have been absent from our room this month due to pink eyes.

The 5th Grade Honor Roll—Anna Ruth May, Anna Jean Price, Margaret Adkins, and Eva Wells.

The 6th Grade Honor Roll—Geneva Shirley, Jimmie Lykins, Henry Lee May, and Herbert Rose.

The 6th and 7th grade basketball teams played Monday at noon. The score was 13-26 in favor of 6th.

The sixth grade welcomed two new pupils to their room, Garland Johnson and Thomas Wells.

The 4th and 6th grades are organizing a bird society. They will meet and elect a president Wednesday.

CLASS TOURNAMENT

The annual class tournament began Monday of last week and the final game was played Friday.

The Seniors played the Sophomores in the final game. The sophomores were victorious by a score of 22-20. The sophomores were so elated over the outcome of the game that they challenged the teachers to a game. Little persuasion was necessary on the part of the teachers. At the free activity period Monday, the two teams met, each eager for victory. To make a long story short, the scoreboard read at the close of the game: teachers—47; sophomores—7. At the close of this game the Seniors, yet unsatisfied, challenged the teachers to a game, Tuesday morning. After a slow start the teachers emerged victors by a score 28-13.

NYA CLUB

Cannel City, Ky.—The NYA recreation club met Friday, March 11. Seventeen members were present. Most of the morning was spent in discussing the importance of the NYA and what it had done for them. We also had a short discussion on table manners and "How to Spend Your Money Wisely" by Miss Aileen Zornes.

We practiced our play and decided that it would be given Saturday, March 26th at the Cannel City High School Auditorium.

We sang songs and played games and just before we adjourned refreshments were served. The next meeting will be March 26th.

BULAH MORRIS, Secretary.

Regional School Board Meeting
Superintendent of Schools, Ova O. Haney announced that a regional meeting of School Board members of the State Organization will be held at West Liberty, March 31, 1938, at 1:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium. This is one of a series of 12 such meetings, under the direction of the State President, Mr. Schuerman. All our fifteen counties will be represented at this meeting which are Pike, Floyd, Breathitt, Magoffin, Rowan, Elliott, Lawrence, Johnson, Wolfe, Menifee, Morgan and perhaps others. A special program of the meeting will be announced later.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

The regular chapel program was given on Friday of last week by the Senior Class. The devotional was led by Lucille Nickell and then the program was turned over to the Senior Class.

The program was in the form of an amateur program and Joe Caudill was the announcer. The class joined in singing "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." The first amateur was Ella Ruth Childers who gave an imitation of the "Singing Lady."

Next on the program were the "Colorado Floaters" consisting of Wanda Lee and Nell Gevedon and Miriam Byrd, who sang "Where the Silvery Colorado Winds Its Way" and E. L. Clevenger gave a few highlights of the day's happenings in true Bookie Carter style.

Ted DeLong sang a song titled "Out on the Deep." Delphia McClure was Tennessee Miller from Fugit's Fork, Troublesome Creek Kentucky, and she sang "There's More Party Boys Than One." Then came the three old maids, Frieda Cox, Valda Sargent, and Joyce Ashley and they sang "The Fussy Old Maids From Lynn."

Ted DeLong and Helen Jean Cox were Gordon Sizemore and Little Betty and they sang "Back to Old Smoky Mountain," and then Helen Jean recited a verse.

The song, "Ruben and Rachel" was sung by Ted DeLong, Dwayne Bellamy, Margaret Nickell, and Martha Fannin. Viva Bowles imitated "Cousin Emmy" and sang "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain." Lillian Dunn gave a humorous reading, "Jump Back Honey" and Ruie Ratliff read some jokes on some of the students and faculty.

Everyone joined in singing "I Like Mountain Music." The program brought a lot of laughs to the audience and was enjoyed by everyone.

P. T. A. MEETING

The West Liberty P. T. A. held their regular meeting in the high school auditorium Monday night at 7:00 p. m.

J. M. Feltner of the University of Kentucky spoke to the members. Devotional was conducted by Mildred Whitt; A group of Irish melodies were sung by a quartet composed of Major Gardner, Dr. Poynter, Ivis Whitt and Delphia McClure.

Blaine Nickell spoke on the Patron Saint of Ireland, St. Patrick. He said, "Believe it or not, St. Patrick was not an Irishman but was captured and taken to Ireland when he was 16 years old by some pirates." A humorous reading was given by Lena McClure and the high school debating team composed of Jean Potter, Jesse Cottle, Lee Clevenger and Victoria Cottle debated the subject: Resolved that all the states should adopt the Unicameral System of Legislation. The team will represent Morgan County High School in the tournament to be held at Hazard soon.

More than three hundred members were present and at the close of the program enjoyed a treat of apples.

Mrs. C. K. Stacy, president, announced that the district conference would be held at Hazard and delegates were elected to attend the conference. BERNARD E. WHITT

"NEGOTIATE OR FIGHT"

The situation in Europe is undoubtedly precarious.

With all of the great powers conscious of the danger of war and making enormous advances in preparation for war, there were two vital factors to be recognized, the armed might of Italy and Germany and their evident intent to use force to secure their ends.

The practical question before Great Britain and France, after the Hitler coup in Austria, was whether to fight or to compromise. There was nothing else involved although the date for the beginning of hostilities remained uncertain.

Great Britain, through Prime Minister Chamberlain, has decided upon a compromise instead of a resort to force. Invited by Italy to negotiate for a settlement, the government of England, at the loss of a Foreign Secretary, agreed to negotiations. Despite diplomatic face-saving the situation appears to have been roughly as follows: Italy, convinced that the British were "lulling" her while they reamed, insisted upon a settlement now rather than later when British might would be stronger. In simple essence, it was negotiate or fight.

Chamberlain won a vote of confidence but it's too early to say his policy will triumph over the advice of Foreign Secretary, Anthony Eden, who resigned rather than to negotiate under what he termed the "basis of threats." Whether a permanent settlement can be had of the issues that embroil Italy and Germany, on one side, against France and England on the other, remains to be seen. Whether the dictators' appetite will be satisfied by a few hunks of meat, thrown out in a sacrificial move, or whether there will be demand for more flesh is the question.

If a permanent settlement of European troubles can lay the foundation for peace Austen Chamberlain will get much credit. If not, Anthony Eden is apt to be the next Prime Minister of Great Britain and, if and when he assumes the job directing British policy, Germany and Italy will probably have their turn to decide whether to negotiate or fight.

THE STANDARD FORD V-8

ROSE MOTOR COMPANY

Authorized Ford Sales and Service Station

West Liberty, Kentucky

The Ford effort to make your dollars buy a constantly better car is well illustrated in the Standard Ford V-8.

It has all the basic Ford advantages. It is built on the same chassis as the De Luxe Ford V-8. It gives you a choice of smooth 85-horsepower or 60-horsepower V-8 engines. But it sells at low prices, and includes bumpers, spare tire, cigar lighter, twin horns and other equipment that make it a still bigger bargain.

With the thrifty 60-horsepower engine, the Standard Ford V-8 is priced especially low and gives the greatest gas mileage in Ford history. Hundreds of owners report averages of 22 to 27 miles a gallon—or even more.

Your pocketbook will approve of the Standard Ford in every way. And so will you when you drive it!

From the town of Morehead, Not so far away, Comes a request, I'll try to pay.

With pencil in hand, My specs on my nose, Out goes your rhyme And here she goes.

With spring rains coming And most time drumming, I must go to work, And quit my bumming.

The March winds blowing, With occasional thunder, Let's all go to work, Ere we make a blunder.

April is soon coming Not very far away, And soon thereafter Is the month of May, When crop time is over You lay down to rest, You can truthfully say, I've done my best.

You'll have to sow it Before you can grow it, If I'm a poet, I don't know it. SLAB
